DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claims 1-15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Jacobson (U. S. Pat. 6,499,227) in view of Rudeen et al. (U. S. Pub. No. 2004/0084495 A1) or Antczak et al. (U. S. pat. 5,934,530).

Jacobson shows a golf cart comprising at least one external surface 20 and an apparatus 10 with a body 35 having an inner surface and an outer surface, a fastening mechanism (see Figs. 3A-3E) for securing the body inner surface against the at least one external surface and fastener 50 for coupling a glove to said at least one external surface which are arranged same as claimed. Rudeen et al. teach a golf accessory carrier comprising a sheet material body 200 with an inner surface and an outer surface 210 having Velcro material for removably coupling a glove to the body same as claimed. Antczak et al. teach a golf accessory organizer comprising a sheet material body 1 with an inner surface and an outer surface 19, 21 having Velcro material for removably coupling a glove 53 to the body same as claimed. Therefore, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to substitute the golf accessory carrier/organizer of Rudeen et al. or Antczak et al. for the glove coupling apparatus 35 of Jacobson in order to facilitate coupling and removing glove to the golf cart.

3. Claims 1-15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Ellenburg (U. S. Pat. 5,983,518) in view of Rudeen et al. (U. S. Pub. No. 2004/0084495 A1) or Antczak et al. (U. S. pat. 5,934,530)

Ellenburg shows a golf cart 34 comprising at least one external surface 32 and an apparatus 10 with a body 24. The body also has an inner surface and outer surface. The inner surface is in substantial contact against said at least one external surface 32 of the golf cart during operation of the golf cart. The body's outer surface (at 24) has a fastening mechanism 12, 14, 19, 26, 28, 30, 36, 38 for removably coupling a glove 36 to said body 19, 24 such that the glove 36 remains coupled to said apparatus during operation of the golf cart 34. Rudeen et al. teach a golf accessory carrier comprising a sheet material body 200 with an inner surface and an outer surface 210 having Velcro material for removably coupling a glove to the body same as claimed. Antczak et al. teach a golf accessory organizer comprising a sheet material body 1 with an inner surface and an outer surface 19, 21 having Velcro material for removably coupling a glove 53 to the body same as claimed. Therefore, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to substitute the golf accessory carrier/organizer of Rudeen et al. or Antczak et al. for the glove coupling apparatus 10 of Ellenburg in order to facilitate coupling and removing glove to the golf cart.

4. Claims 1-15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Passafiume (U. S. Pat. 2002/0138953 A1) in view of Rudeen et al. (U. S. Pub. No. 2004/0084495 A1) or Antczak et al. (U. S. pat. 5,934,530)

Passafiume shows a golf cart 14 comprising at least one external surface 12 and an apparatus 10 with a body 52. The body also has an inner surface and outer surface. The inner surface is in substantial contact against said at least one external surface 12 of the golf cart during operation of the golf cart. The body's outer surface has a fastening mechanism 69, 43 for removably coupling a glove 20 to said body such that the glove 20 remains coupled to said apparatus during operation of the golf cart 14. Ruddeen et al. teach a golf accessory carrier comprising a sheet material body 200 with an inner surface and an outer surface 210 having Velcro material for removably coupling a glove to the body same as claimed. Antczak et al. teach a golf accessory organizer comprising a sheet material body 1 with an inner surface and an outer surface 19, 21 having Velcro material for removably coupling a glove 53 to the body same as claimed. Therefore, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to substitute the golf accessory carrier/organizer of Rudeen et al. or Antczak et al. for the glove coupling apparatus 10 of Passafiume in order to facilitate coupling and removing glove to the golf cart.
